

daana | Host Agreement

Without you, daana is just another good idea, so thank you for your interest in being a daana supporter. Please read the article daana - The Essence of Generosity and watch the daana prez.

If all this resonates with you, then please continue reading :-)

As a daana host, you have agreed to generously lend your space for a daana class. In accordance with the daana champion and the daana teacher assigned to your space, you have agreed upon the terms of day, time, duration, and type of class.

If for any reason you decide to stop hosting a daana class, please advise the daana champion or director at least 2 weeks in advance. Similarly, if you leave on vacation or for any other reason you know that the space will not be available temporarily for a daana class, please advise the daana champion or director as soon as possible.

Finally, daana is covered with a 'Commercial General Liability' insurance. It is still highly suggested for you to contact your insurance company and inform them that you will be hosting donation-based classes regularly.

Please fill out the requested information below (strictly for our records), if you agree with the terms mentioned above:
